April Meeting

"Finding Clarity: The Science of Translucent Materials"

What?

With this course you will gain a greater understanding of the performance characteristics and the unique properties of architectural resins and glass, enabling you to select the best materials to meet the demands of your projects.

Learning objectives of this keynote:

- Understand the evolution of high-performance translucent materials.
- Understand several material properties and how they compare between different translucent material types.
- Understand performance characteristics and how they play a role in selecting the best material for your application.
- Understand the benefits of transluents in helping to protect and restore our environment and improve human well-being.

Michelle Moritz, Materials Consultant with 3form has been active in the design industry for over 20 years. She has worked in the realms of fashion and interior design, eventually finding her love of materials and taking a position with Bedrosian's Tile & Stone. After 8 years with them, Michelle was drawn to 3form, a company focused on the manufacture of environmentally friendly architectural resins and glass.

DO GOOD

We would like to start the year off right by giving back to those in need and we hope you will consider donating to the Women's Resource Center of San Diego. We will have a donation box at all of our chapter meetings to bring cash, gift cards or items from the list provided. Please check out their website below to learn more about this local organization and to see their wish list.

FEEL GOOD

- A clean home can strengthen your immune system and help avoid illness
- Cleaner air = Easier breathing
- Off the couch & on your feet
- Toss expired products
- Less clutter = Lower anxiety

this month's recipe

Trader Joe's Lentil Dip

- 1-17oz package Steamed Lentils
- 1-14oz container Fresh Bruschetta Sauce
- 6oz crumbled Feta cheese

Add all together in a bowl, stir and serve with crackers, bread or chips.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

Our local NKBA Chapter relies on volunteers to function. Without members stepping up to fill board seats and assist with committees, our chapter can't exist and certainly can't thrive.

Thankfully, our new board will be serving through the 2022-23 term, but with the anticipated retirement of a few and term limits on others, we will be in great need of filling some big shoes. Please consider how you can have an impact and be a part of the future of the NKBA San Diego Chapter. Fortunately, we have some great opportunities for you to get involved right now to make our events and activities even better. We will be speaking more on these opportunities at our April chapter meeting. Please reach out to Tracy Parsons - nkbasandiego.communications@gmail.com with questions or to sign up.
